If You Catch
My Son, Officers,
Please Be Brutal!

Here is a letter written by a mother to her police chief in Topeka, Kansas—she sets forth her views on "Police brutality." We have one comment to make: "What a mother!" We have just one question to ask: Why is her tribe so small?

To begin, I should first tell you that I have two teenage sons, and being a mother, I cannot help but want the very best of everything for them. I am not a "typical mother" in that I see things that many mothers never hear of, much less become involved in, because my husband is a minister and we see the very best and the sordid worst.

I would like for you to be brutal with my sons. Is that a surprise?

If you find them speeding in a car, please be brutal. I have sat at a hospital holding a grieving mother's hand because of someone's mistake. That was brutal. I have gone with my husband to tell a wife her husband was killed. That was brutal. I have played organ music at funeral services for babies, teen-agers and adults, because someone drove too fast. That was brutal.

I have sat all night by my husband's side trying to piece together two underage young men's lives, both broken by drinking. That was brutal. I have listened to the horrors experienced by another man while he was drunk and heard him recall the many jails he has served time in for this. That was brutal. I have tried to console a mother whose daughter was killed after being struck by a drunk driver. That was brutal.

If you should find my sons with drugs in their possession, please be brutal.

I have tried to rehabilitate a woman just out of prison for shooting her husband while she was drugged. That was brutal.

I have seen a handsome young man turn into an ugly one because of drugs. That was brutal. I have seen a young mother who was addicted to a drug scream and rave for a lack of a "fix." That was brutal.

If you find my sons committing any kind of immoral act or carrying any pornographic materials please be brutal!

I have listened to the sad cry of a young girl who was pregnant but not married. That was brutal. I have been present when a boy and girl broke the news to their parents that they had to marry. That was brutal. I have tried to comfort a mother whose beautiful daughter was criminally raped. That was brutal. I have seen a promising young man with a brilliant future have to give it up, too young to assume the responsibilities of a wife and baby. That was brutal.

If you ever see my sons taking something that isn't theirs or wilfully destroying property, please be brutal!

I have walked in a hushed, sacred church that was stripped of everything that could be sold. That was brutal. I have seen a lovely, expensive home and yard completely torn up by vandals. That was brutal. I have wiped a little boy's tears and helped him hunt for his stolen bicycle. That was brutal.

If you should ever catch my sons doing anything illegal, please be brutal! I have come to realize that your kind of "brutality" cannot in anyway compare with the brutality that comes from breaking laws.

My husband and I have tried to teach our sons that their rights end where someone else's begin. We believe that they have learned this lesson. But in case they forget, we look to you and others who influence their lives—teachers, coaches, etc., to see that they remember.

And if you must be brutal to remind them—then please be brutal!

I do not want my two sons to grow into two grown-up boys. I want them to become men, able to assume their places in this world and make good contributions to it. I sincerely hope they won't need your help; but if they do, and if you must, then be brutal!

New Economy Policy Gets Touchier

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The new economic policy is only three months old but it isn't too early to say that the going is getting touchier all the time and that the prospect of quick, clean accomplishments is fading.

The Pay Board especially appears to be facing problems. The five labor members have been aligned in opposition to the majority of the 15-member board. And wage demands, and some agreements, far exceed guidelines.

The soft coal industry has agreed to a 39 per cent increase in wages and benefits. Rail signalmen have won a 46 per cent increase over 42 months, subject to Pay Board approval. Similar agreements are forthcoming.

Are these to be considered impudent attempts by labor to flaunt government efforts to keep wage increases, on average, to 5.5 per cent a year?

The president of the National Association of Manufacturers, W. P. Gullander, thinks they are. He forecasts an uprising against "abusive labor union power, of which industry has been aware for more than a generation."

But when you listen to labor leaders you obtain an entirely different view. It isn't greed or antagonism or disrespect or power or selfishness that motivates them, as they see it.

It is, instead, responsibility to men and women who, over the years, have suffered financial deprivation, insecurity and health problems. And that battle, rather than having been won, may have suffered a setback from inflation.

This presents the Pay Board with the nearly impossible task of resolving quickly and practically the incredibly divergent points of view that are rooted in hundreds of years of history.

It presents them with issues that have been settled only after long fights and then only temporarily, it being understood by both parties that the argument was to be reopened one or two years later.

It isn't surprising, therefore, to see the same alignments and attitudes existing as before. Labor members of the board are likely to vote together. Business denounces profit limitations but proclaims the need for wage restraints.

And while it is conceivable that the Pay Board will be able to attain the degree of restraint it seeks, it also seems likely that it can do so only with considerable friction.

Dinner Held for 250 Persons Willing to Pay Price in Blood

By JOSEPH R. TYBOR

Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Corrigan, who have six hemophiliacs in the family, held a dinner for 250 persons willing to pay the price—a pint of blood.

The couple has four sons and two grandsons who have hemophilia, a hereditary disease which afflicts only males. It leads to difficulty in controlling bleeding, even after minor injuries, because of delayed blood clotting.

The Corrigan have been organizing such dinners semi-annually for 17 years. The latest one was Wednesday night when about 250 relatives, neighbors and friends each gave a pint of blood and then sat down in a high school cafeteria to a catered dinner of mostaccioli, ham, chicken, roast beef and all the trimmings.

The Chicago Blood Donor Service provided the medical staff and equipment. "We started at the suggestion of a friend who got the idea after he took three others to the blood bank one evening and then made a night on the town of it," said Mrs. Corrigan.

The Corrigan have to pay for a current blood need of 1,500 units a year for their sons Chuck 26, Marty 16, Bill 14, and Roger 4.

Until four years ago whole blood plasma had to be used and the children received the transfusions at a hospital. But since then Mrs. Corrigan has been giving her children injections of cryoprecipitate, a blood derivative which brings about clotting. She keeps the cryoprecipitate in her kitchen freezer and administers it at home.

"She does it right on the table," said Marty. "She's gotten pretty good at it."

Mrs. Corrigan says she uses about 47 units of cryoprecipitate a month. Each unit has to be paid back with two units of blood.

The Corrigan three years ago adopted a baby who was unwanted because he was a bleeder. The boy is their youngest, Roger.

The Corrigan have four daughters—three who are married—and another son who is not a bleeder. Two of the grandsons have the ailment.

"Overall, we've been thankful," said Mrs. Corrigan. "We've had faith in God, and he's rewarded us. People have been wonderful."

As for the dinners, Corrigan said: "We've found it's not that people don't want to give blood. It's that they don't like the idea of going to a blood bank alone. Here, we have a good time. Our friends may stay three or four hours."

Director Weds a Sixth Time

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Ingmar Bergman, Sweden's famous movie and stage director, has been married for the sixth time.

Bergman confirmed in a telephone interview that he married Ingrid von Rosen, 41, who has four children by a previous marriage. Bergman, 53, has eight children.

The director acknowledged that the marriage took place this fall at a place and date he would not divulge.

Bergman first met his new wife, who was earlier married to a son of Prince Carl of Sweden, in the 1940s. They met again a year ago.

Deliverymen Help Send POW Packages

By CHARLIE BAROUH

Associated Press Writer

SEATTLE, Wash., (AP) — Three young men who want to do "something constructive—not destructive" about Vietnam hope to use their jobs as parcel post deliverymen to help families here send Christmas packages to American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

They have volunteered to pick up packages from POW families in the Puget Sound area and speed them directly to Seattle-Tacoma International Airport for shipment to the San Francisco departure point.

And they say they'll even help pay the postage, if necessary.

They hope to save as much as a day on the shipping time as the Nov. 29 deadline for sending packages draws near.

Phil Scott, a 21-year-old accounting major at the University of Washington, got the idea after learning the weight limitation on POW Christmas packages had been increased.

He enlisted Mike Kelley, 24, a fulltime employee at Mail Dispatch Services Co. "I thought it was a fantastic idea," Kelley said. "We talked to friends and our boss to find out what the reaction was."

"After all, people are pretty sensitive about Vietnam and because we're college students they might not realize what we're trying to do," Scott added. "We're trying to do something constructive—not destructive. We want to do something that's good."

"We're against the war, but I think we're like most people. They would like to do something but they wait because they don't know what to do," he said.

Paul Clifford, general manager at Mail Dispatch, made the firm's answering service, trucks and other facilities available after business hours and for the two weekends remaining before the deadline.

Other employees volunteered to help Kelley, Scott and Rick Read, 21, another University of Washington student.

Development Is Linked to Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who has devoted decades to building and rebuilding the world's economies—which means to him the lives of people—is retiring soon "with a definite sense of failure."

"I have been unable," said Paul G. Hoffman, 80, "to make people realize the relationship between development and peace."

Hoffman is the man who administered the Marshall Plan that rebuilt postwar Europe and who more recently has headed economic assistance for the U.N. Development Program.

Viewed traditionally, Hoffman's self-assessment can hardly be accepted. Besides his humanitarian work, among still other achievements, he was head of the Studebaker Corp. and president of the Ford Foundation.

Moreover, he has authored books and won honorary degrees. He has been an adviser to politicians and diplomats, a constant influence on world affairs, a developer of great men, dreams and deeds.

With such accomplishments on his record, an interviewer thought that Hoffman certainly must torment himself with very high standards or the realization that the jobs to be done are of even more immense importance. It appeared to be both.

The term "foreign aid," he said, has confused the thinking of America. Aid given to other nations in developing their economies is never selfish, he explained, because it is the basis of better lives, trade—and peace.

Black Gold Apparently Has Found a Home in Moro Bay State Park

By BILL LANCASTER

Pine Bluff Commercial

WARREN, Ark. (AP) — Oil, the substance that has bolstered South Arkansas's economy for many years, apparently will find a home in the new Moro Bay State Park under construction south of here on the banks of the Ouachita River.

A charter was signed last December officially establishing the Moro Bay area in south Bradley County as a state park. Since then, however, the future of the $217,000 project has been clouded by a planned exploration for oil on the park property.

Plans for construction of the park hit a snag last April when Ouachita Exploration, Inc., of El Dorado, notified the state Parks, Recreation and Travel Commission that it held mineral rights to some of the land included in the 110-acre park.

The company said it had plans for a pipeline and roadway through the park area and planned to reopen an old well on the property and also drill a new well.

According to G. W. Surles, state Parks director, Ouachita Exploration has a mineral lease on 90 acres of the 110 acres now in development. And, according to Surles, Frank Jones, president of the company, has stated to park officials that his company plans to drill for oil on the property in the near future.

After the news reached park officials that Ouachita Exploration had mineral rights to the land in the park, Surles asked the state attorney general's office whether a company could legally drill in the park even if it did hold mineral rights.

The ruling was that the state could not forbid Ouachita Exploration from drilling for minerals in the Moro Bay State Park.

Surles, other park officials and even Gov. Dale Bumpers, who had worked for development of the park, accepted the ruling and proceeded with development of the park in spite of the threat of large-scale exploration on the property.

Intent on developing an attractive park void of large oil well pumps scattered about, the state Parks and Tourism Department met Aug. 5 and adopted regulations governing drilling for oil, gas and other minerals on state park property.

Although the regulations were designed to cover all parks where applicable, the commission had the interest of Moro Bay State Park at heart when it drew up the regulations.

William E. Henderson, director of the Parks and Tourism Department, said upon adopting the regulations that the commission could not legally stop Ouachita Exploration from drilling at Moro Bay, but it could adopt regulations that would have to be followed in the drilling.

The regulations stated, in part, that no timber could be cut or destroyed without permission from the state parks director, that no drilling or other excavation could be done within 200 feet of any building without permission from the parks director, that the driller must "do all things reasonably necessary" to prevent or reduce to the fullest extent scarring and erosion of the lands, pollution of the water resources and any damage to the watershed.

"I think they (Ouachita Exploration) will drill in the park," Surles said. "However, the regulations we drew up will guarantee no damage to the park."

Jones, however, doesn't agree with Surles. He said his company was proceeding with its plans to drill and that he would "build a well right in the middle of the park."

Jones said the regulations adopted by the commission were "unjust" and that he had filed suit in Bradley County Chancery Court to test their legality.

"I was going to drill a well on every 10 acres over there (in the park) if it proves productive and I still will," Jones said.

Surles said that, in talking with Ouachita Exploration officials, it was his understanding that the firm planned to open an abandoned well located on the park property and drill a new well.

"If they don't strike oil, then in all likelihood more wells will be drilled so that more oil can be removed from the area," Surles said.

In other words, to make the park more attractive, the commission is hoping that Ouachita Exploration will come up empty-handed when it sinks its drilling equipment into the land.

"I had rather they didn't drill," Surles said. "That's only natural. But I don't think the two oil wells are going to cause any real harm to the park."

Surles said drilling for minerals on public property was not an uncommon occurrence in the nation. "As a matter of fact, the parks director in Oklahoma has an oil well right outside his office."

Also, Surles added, a zinc mine was located on the rim of the Grand Canyon National Park.

Surles said construction of the park was 70 per cent complete and probably would be finished by Jan. 1. The park's opening is slated for April 1, 1972.

"To sum up the situation," Surles said, "the park is under construction, will open next year, and there probably will be an oil well or two in the park."

But with the regulation in effect, he said the oil wells won't detract from the park's beauty.

Charged With Discrimination Against Blacks

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A civil rights suit was filed Thursday in U.S. District Court here by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Turner against Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Slack of Batesville, who own rental property in a predominantly white area in Little Rock.

According to the suit, the Turners, who are black, called the defendants on Aug. 13 and ascertained that the property at 11 Monica Drive was available for rent for $185 a month. The Turners made an appointment to see the property.

The suit said a Mrs. Stansell, Mrs. Slack's mother, met the Turners and showed them the house.

According to the suit, several minutes later, Bernie Mann of Little Rock, who had made an appointment to see the house, arrived and Mrs. Stansell rented the house to him and took his check.

The suit said that Mrs. Stansell told Mann that several Negroes had tried to rent the house and "expressed anger at black citizens attempting to rent property from whites."

A. T. Goodloe, attorney for the Turners, said that Turner, an announcer for radio station KALA, Little Rock, has suspected discrimination against blacks in rental practices.

When Mrs. Stansell stalled on renting the house to Turner, Goodloe said, Mann, who also is associated with the radio station, and a friend of Turner's, then arrived as part of a pre-arranged plan and rented the house in an attempt to obtain the necessary proof to support the suit.

President to Press for Controls

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon's blunt pledge to press wage-price controls whether organized labor likes it or not has met with brusque dismissal by a hostile AFL-CIO convention. The confrontation apparently signals a major presidential campaign clash in 1972.

Labor sources expressed mixed views over who came off best politically in the rare public clash between Nixon and President George Meany of the AFL-CIO at the federation's convention Friday.

"Nixon was speaking to a national audience," said Peter T. Schoemann, a member of the AFL-CIO's powerful 35-man executive board that earlier won convention approval to refuse cooperation with federal wage controls.

A White House aide said Nixon came here against the advice of all his advisers. The aide pictured the convention treatment of the President as "studied contempt."

Many labor leaders viewed Nixon's speech before some 2,000 delegates, alternates and guests as the opening rally in the President's bid for re-election.

"He didn't win any friends here, but I'm afraid it's going to have a big effect in the nation," another AFL-CIO official said of Nixon's face-to-face showdown with labor critics.

Nixon said whether he gets cooperation from labor and other groups or not, "it is my obligation as President of the United States to make this program of stopping the rise in the cost of living succeed."

The audience at best gave scattered polite applause, and laughed when Nixon contended that his 90-day wage-price freeze was a remarkable success and that "if you don't think so, go home and ask your wives who go to the grocery store."

Meany and most other labor leaders are waiting only for the Democrats to settle on a presidential nominee before throwing all their support that way.

Democratic presidential contender Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota got a comparatively warm welcome in a speech backing labor's pay demands. He suggested that Nixon be "phased out" of the White House next year.

Many of the labor leaders here talked more favorably about a Democratic ticket headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, with possibly Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts as Jackson's running mate.

"While some of you may be against me politically, and some of you may be against my party, I know from experience over the last three years that when the chips are down, organized labor is for America," Nixon said in one of numerous appeals that fell flat.

Compromise on Foreign Aid Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional efforts to revive foreign aid headed into a House-Senate compromise conference today. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield predicts the going will be "awfully tough."

The House resurrected its original $3.4-billion bill Thursday, the one the Senate defeated Oct. 29, and sent it straight into conference against the Senate's new $2.67-billion bills.

But conferees were more worried about policy differences, including Mansfield's six-month Indochina war deadline and Senate revision of basic foreign-aid concepts than the difference in money figures.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Do black and white pepper come from different plants?

A—No, both are the dried berries of the same vine. Black pepper is picked when it is underripe, then dried in the sun; white pepper is ripened longer, then left to ferment in piles.

Q—In major league baseball, when was the foul tip designated as a strike?

A—In 1895.

High School Football Roundup

The Class AAA-East championship game ended Friday night after 12 plays.

That was the point at which

Forrest City's Robert Lee Steward left the game limping. He never returned and sixth-ranked

Little Rock McClellan went on to score a 21-6 victory over the Mustangs and earn the right to meet Hot Springs in the Class

AAA playoffs next week.

Top-ranked Stuttgart crushed

10th-ranked Rogers 31-6 in the semifinals of the Class AA playoffs.

Second-ranked Fort Smith

Northside scored four touchdowns in the second half and buried Fort Smith Southside 34-0.

Seventh-ranked Little Rock

Catholic kept its hopes for a share of the AAAA title alive with a 42-21 victory over North

Little Rock Northeast. Ninth-ranked Morrilton crushed Magnolia 27-8 in another Class AA semifinal.

Third-ranked Little Rock Hall, fourth-ranked Hot Springs, fifth-ranked Little Rock Parkview

and eighth-ranked Texarkana were idle.

Steward, who has gained more than 1,600 yards this season, was hurt on the 12th play from scrimmage. He carried 10 times for 28 yards before leaving the game.

A Forrest City victory would have given the Mustangs a tie with McClellan for the conference championship.

Virgil Pearcey scored twice for the Lions and David Hines scored the other McClellan touchdown on a 42-yard burst.

Northside led Southside 6-0 at the half, but a 73-yard run by

Greg Blackman and Tommy

Chayne's 52-yard sprint with a pass interception gave the Grizzlies a commanding lead in the third period.

Terry Blaylock and Walter

Stephens scored two touchdowns

each and Pat Campbell gained

123 yards on 19 carries to pace

Catholic. The Rockets broke a

7-7 tie late in the second period on Blaylock's one-yard run and expanded their margin to 35-7 before the Chargers scored again.

The Rockets will share the AAAA title with Northside if they beat North Little Rock on Thanksgiving.

Marianna made John Ennis'

two-yard touchdown run stand up for a 7-3 victory over Jacksonville in a AAA-East game.

Jacksonville was stopped three times in Marianna territory in the second half.

Marianna finished the season with a 2-5 conference record and a 2-9 mark for the season.

Jacksonville wound up 1-6 in the conference and 1-10-1 for the season.

2. FS Northside beat FS

Southside 34-0.

3. LR Hall was idle.

4. Hot Springs was idle.

10. Rogers lost to Stuttgart

Right now he knows he isn't well.

"I'm still 20 pounds underweight—I weigh about 184," Namath explained. "I don't feel strong. I don't feel I'm throwing the ball as well as I should.

And I'm not getting my feet under me as well as I should.

"I know I don't have it all together yet."

The problem is a nerve in back of the knee that was severely bruised when Namath attempted to tackle Detroit linebacker Mike Lucet in an exhibition game. They operated on the knee, but the nerve must heal naturally.

"Nerve tissue regenerates slowly," explained Jeff Sneyder, the Jets' trainer. "He was in agony for eight weeks.

There's still some numbness in the foot and there's still some pain."

While Namath has convalesced, the letters have been coming.

The only problem is they still don't know what that is.

Namath Fears He Is Not Ready Yet

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — "The

thing that worries me," said

Joe Namath as his fingers searched for the fishbone scar on his leg in a subconscious reaction, "is that when I walk down steps my legs quiver.

"I'm not a doctor, but I know my knees. I'm not ready yet, and only I'll know when I'm ready."

Does he ever think never?

The grating metallic sound of his left leg pumping the exercising machine stopped as Namath hunched forward to answer.

"Sure, I've thought about it, but what am I going to do? They will or they won't—it's that cut and dried."

So is the route back—filled with endless whirlpool baths and exercises on the machine,

a couple of passes a day and, then, on Sundays, the tedium of standing on the sidelines while someone else quarterbacks his

New York Jets.

And wherever he goes, he probably takes with him the words of teammate Emerson

Boozier, who says:

"Joe should never play again.

If he gets hurt again he could become a wheel chair victim."

"Everybody thinks about getting injured," Namath said as he continued to pump his leg up and down, up and down on the mini-gym, a device utilizing the theory of isokinetics to strengthen the knee that had to be repaired after it was ripped up in an exhibition game.

"But football is something I enjoy—and you're lucky when you make a living at something you enjoy. I've tried other things. It's not the same. Sometimes I admit I don't enjoy it, but everybody's job gets tedious some times. But I want to play."

"That means you've got to
